Dedication

We, the annual staff, wish to dedicate the 1962 EDISONIAN to you, Mr. Curtis Schrotberger, faithful custodian and friend to all who know you. We hope that this small honor can in some way show our appreciation for your wonderful attitude and warm personality.

A day does not go by that you do not have a kind word or smile for whomever you meet in the hallways. Your cheerfulness and fine spirit have set an example for each of us in some part to attain. It is, then, with great pleasure that we dedicate the 1962 EDISONIAN to you.

Football

Varsity

The 1961 football season was a season of extensive growth not only in players but in coaching. The growth in players stemmed from the fact that the team lost thirteen senior lettermen from the 1960 season and had only six returning this year.

The growth in the number of coaches in the senior high provided more supervision in training under the guidance of three coaches: a new head coach, Mr. Robert D. Gustafson, and his assistants, Mr. Bernard Halaschak and Mr. Leroy Webdell.

Basketball

Varsity

The 1961-62 basketball season was an average season, as the Eagles ranked eighth in the Calumet Conference; but they could have tied for first place if they had not lost untimely three games, each under five points.

Edison's sectional play was the best since 1956. The Eagles defeated Andean of Gary, 67-46; but they lost to the Tolleston team (that was rated as twelfth in the state), 61-58, although they were ahead of Talleston 32-28 at the half.

Jack Campbell, elected the most valuable player and honorary co-captain, was selected for the All Conference Team and the All Sectional Team of Gary. He was presented the rebound trophy.

William Chicos, honorary co-captain, was selected for the All Sectional Team and was given an honorable mention rating on the All Conference Team.

Edisonian

Probably the largest single extracurricular project in Edison is the publication of the annual. Work begins the very first day of the school year and ends after the last day of school -- in fact, the organization of the staff and the contracts for the photographer and the printer are signed the preceding spring.

This year, the staff spent many hours in an attempt to produce the best annual possible. This year's annual is the largest to have been published in Edison Senior High School. Many new features have been added to the book, and a patron's list has taken the place of the ad section. For the first time, the staff has taken some of its own photos in an attempt to increase the coverage in the annual.

The staff wishes to thank Miss Hartley, who has spent uncounted hours of work, the supporters of the 1962 "Edisonian", and anyone who has helped to make possible the publication of this book.

Under a newly revised constitution, this year's Student Council has become the most active organization in the school. The familiar projects such as the annual Homecoming, hall monitors, Christmas decorations, and the Student Court have been broadened and are only a few of the numerous projects undertaken by the Council during the year. With a growing membership committee, convocations, panel discussions, surveys, and many other functions have been added to this year's Student Council duties. Some of the new projects have been the Homecoming float award, intramurals, and a Christmas fund for the needy.

The National Senior Honor Society Chapter at Edison experienced once again a very successful and eventful year. The year's activities began with the society's traditional candlelight ceremony which inducted the new members and installed the newly elected officers. Projects for the group this year consisted of sponsoring Edison's first talent show, which proved to be one of the year's most entertaining events and the publication of a "Buzz Book." The Society, also, designed its own personal emblem for the use of its members. Highlighting and closing the year's activities was the annual trip.

The E-Men's Club sought to increase both sportsmanship and team spirit in all forms at the athletic events. The membership, which is limited to only those holding a letter in a major sport, was increased to a record size. This year's activities included the sponsorship of the Faculty-Senior and Faculty-Alumni games and the selling of popcorn and programs at the games. The profit earned from these projects was used to send the varsity football players to see the Chicago Bears play the Green Bay Packers and the varsity basketball players to see the Indiana State basketball finals. The social activities included various soc hops, the All Conference awards banquets, and the All Sports Dance at the close of the year.

Since East Gary has had a junior and senior high school, Physical Education classes were offered to the girls for the first time in the history of Edison Senior High School; thus, this was the first year the girls had the opportunity to organize a Trampoline Club, which was comprised of girls who were interested in the sport, which is officially known as rebound tumbling. The girls presented half-time shows during the basketball season.

Since most of the girls knew absolutely nothing about rebound tumbling at the beginning of the school year, the end product proved to be very worth-while as a relatively short period of time was spent for practice.

Among the many new clubs making their first appearance at Edison was Edison's Latin Club. Sponsored by the Latin instructor, Mrs. Iona Crisman, the club had a highly successful first year. The traditional installation ceremony was the group's first endeavor and proved to be an evening of fun for all of those in attendance. The second semester found the organization sponsoring a second annual Latin Banquet, the custom having been started by last year's Latin students. The banquet proved to be an entertaining event with decorations, food, and clothing taking on the traditional Latin custom. Throughout the entire year, the club endeavored to make its members more conscious of the importance of Latin by sponsoring Latin contests and plays.

The 1961-'62 "Eagle Feathers" staff worked throughout the year to give the student body the best newspaper to have been printed in Edison Senior High School. Instead of the bi-monthly mimeographed paper with the exception of three printed issues one year, which was published in former years, each edition was printed monthly for the entire year and was financed by means of the income derived from ads of merchants which were printed in each issue. A free copy was given to each student in Edison Senior High School and, also, Edison Junior High. The members of the staff wish to thank the merchants for their support of Edison's school paper.

Edison's first-place Choir was kept busy again this year preparing for its two concerts and appearance at the state contest. On the evening of December 12, the Choir presented its annual Christmas Concert in the new gymnasium. Following the Christmas Concert, the Choir spent most of the time in preparation for the state choral contest. Hoping for its third straight first-place rating in the state contest, the Choir spent many early mornings in practice. In the spring the Choir presented its annual spring song festival as well as a number of performances at the all school convocations throughout the year.

The Choir's social calendar of events consisted of the annual Christmas Ball the first semester and the annual banquet given in honor of the senior members of the choir at the end of the year.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the local context in which a project is implemented. This involves a thorough analysis of the social, cultural, and economic factors that may influence the success or failure of the intervention. The second part of the paper describes the methodology used in the study, which includes a combination of qualitative and quantitative approaches. The third part of the paper presents the findings of the study, which show that the intervention had a positive impact on the target population. The final part of the paper discusses the implications of the findings for future research and practice.

The study was conducted in a rural area of a developing country, where the majority of the population is engaged in agriculture. The intervention was designed to improve the livelihoods of the target population by providing them with access to credit and technical assistance. The results of the study show that the intervention was successful in achieving its objectives, and that the target population was able to improve their living standards as a result of the intervention.

The findings of the study have important implications for the design and implementation of similar interventions in other rural areas. First, it is important to understand the local context in which the intervention is being implemented. This involves a thorough analysis of the social, cultural, and economic factors that may influence the success or failure of the intervention. Second, it is important to use a combination of qualitative and quantitative approaches in the study. This will allow researchers to gain a more comprehensive understanding of the impact of the intervention. Finally, it is important to monitor and evaluate the impact of the intervention regularly. This will allow researchers to identify any problems early on and make adjustments to the intervention as needed.

In conclusion, the study shows that the intervention had a positive impact on the target population. The findings of the study have important implications for the design and implementation of similar interventions in other rural areas. It is important to understand the local context in which the intervention is being implemented, to use a combination of qualitative and quantitative approaches in the study, and to monitor and evaluate the impact of the intervention regularly.
